Falling of the Ceiling at Hendquarters.
Yesterday morning the entire ceiling or the telephone room at police headquarters fell to the floor with a crush, filling the room with an immense amount of debris. John Hawkins, the operator, narrowly escaped severe injury, while operator, narrowly (scaped severe injury, while George Noyes, electrician of the fire department, was slightly hurt on the hand. This is another evidence, if any more evidence was needed, of the insecurity of the building. The REPUBLICAN has again and again unged that a more suitable building the selected for police headquarters, but until a Commissioner or two is killed in this rotten old rattle-trap it is supposed nothing will be done to remedy the evil.

GREENBRIER WHITE SULPHUR. 'The Pet" Takes in the Races Politics and the Richmond District. Special to THE REPUBLICAN: GREENBRIER WHITE SULPRUE SPRINGS, Aug. 30.-Egotism is characteris ic of a Washington newsmadge calls a "special providence" yesterday it is highly probable that, instead of being seated at a table in Peyton's splendid hotel, I would have been sitting on the edge of an ethereal cloud, tune issue a supplement that would make Washington people stare. Nearly everyone here was seared on the stand, and the fences all around were made roesting places of by sport-loving countrymen and darkeys. Major Ferguson, the genial secretary of the Maryland Jockey Club, and a man to whose energy and thoughtfulness the success of Pimilco is due, managed the races, and, of course, that is a sufficient guarantee that everything passed off excellently. The judges were Mr. Lewis Clark, president of the Lonswille Jockey Club; R. Lowndes, of North Carolina; ex-Governor Matthews, of Virginia, and S. H. Toggart, of Baltimore. The timers were B. G. Thomas, of Lexington, Ky., and Dr. L. L. S alon, of North Carolina, and Major Thomas W. Doswell started the steeds.

to-day there are no races, but there will be running to-morrow. Saturday, and next Tuesday, "Etongh," cried J.-husso., as the horse (that had thrown him) disappeared over the hill. "No more horses for me," and so say I. If there is one thing in the world that is uninteresting to write about it is a "hose" race. John G. saxe, that rhyming throttler of shums, once wrote a jingle about Saratoga that fits the White precisely. Look it up and 1 read it. The muliitude who are here deace, or uk, firr, and pay. As I am writing a german, given by Harry Dulaney, is in progress, and the not-too-handsome beaux and exquisitory besuiful belies are skipping the light fautasile. The water here is the main thing (with a copper) for invalids like myself.

YOU CAN SMELL IT TEN YARDS, taste it, after drinking, ten hours. A fellow who lived in Tennessee's mountains came here some years ago for his health. The doctors' recommended the water and he took the d-cors recommended he was not very familiar with equa pura, but like a gentleman the first morning he came he walked down to the spring for a glass. It is assevented by Major Eakles, the chief older here, that when the man from Tennessee drank the water he looked as shough he had partaken of a portion of julap and castor oil. "Great God," he remarked, "Have I been washing in this water for forly years!" YOU CAN SMELL IT TEN YARDS, he remarked, "Have I been washing in this wave for forly years!"
The hottel is managed with rare ability by George Peyton. Everything is neat and clean, and the stendants are as police and attentive as they can be. One of them has changed my ideas regarding the colored man considerably. I had always thought.

was a very good thing to "tote" water and black boots, but devoid of a very great amount of mental brightness. The man who takes care of my room (No. 301 second Virginia) came in this morning with water, and having (for a wonder) a desire to taik, I remarked: "George, where are you from?" "I'm from Virginian, sain," "Whereabouts do you vote?" "Well, boss," he replied, putting down the bucket, "I votes in Richmond, down in the third district, whar Mister Ambier Smith and George Wise are runnin' fur Congress,"
Of course I interviewed him, and saying that I was surprised would be superfluous. My questions brought forth a dissertation about as follows:
"Bown in the third district we colored people are bound to
